HARDING PARTY IN ZION PARK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cedar City, Utah, June 27.—President Harding left the world of allman cars and speech-making today and plunged into the wilderness of southern Utah for the first real rest since leaving Washington a week ago.

Under the guidance of army officers and experienced woodsmen, the chief executive left his private car early this morning and embarked upon a 65 mile motor trip in the primeval fastness of the Zion National Park, the newest of the great national preserves which dot the unsettled west.

Tomorrow will find the president in Idaho, the home state of one of the bitterest critics of his administration, Senator William E. Borah. Barring mishaps, the president will deliver two speeches in Idaho, one at Pocatello at noon, and another late in the day at Idaho Falls.

COST HER $15 TO SEE PARADE

Mrs. C. E. Rogers of Lake Katine reported to police headquarters this morning that her purse, containing $15, was stolen from her handbag while she was standing in front of the Central post office watching the circus parade pass by.

GRIFFITH EXPERTS SEE "WHITE ROSE"

"The White Rose" will be shown at Keeney's Theatre for the last time today. This picture will open in San Francisco as a road attraction on July 23. A corps of D. W. Griffith's were in this city today inspecting the picture for the last time before it goes on the road. Such newspapers as the New York Sun, the New York Evening World, the New York World and the New York Times speak in the highest terms of the worth of the picture. It is G. W. Griffith's latest production.

W. W. C. A. HOLDS ANOTHER PARTY

The Y. W. C. A. Headquarters on Henry street presented a charming picture on Tuesday evening when some eighty or more Y. W. C. A. members and their girl and young women friends enjoyed a dance, chaired by Mrs. George F. Rice, Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler, Mrs. Antonio Knauth and Mrs. Seth Staples. A committee of Y. W. C. A. girls, Miss Kathleen Meeker, Miss Grace Coutant and Miss Delia Shuarez had gathered quantities of "Black-eyed Susans," with which the room, now pretty well and very costly furnished, was artistically decorated, making a very pleasant background to the daintily dressed girls and their escorts. During the evening, games and some entertainment were enjoyed as well as the dancing, which was made especially enjoyable by the music of Fred Fahnrick's three-piece orchestra. Another pleasant feature of the evening which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, was the delicious refreshments, the committee in charge being Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, Miss Margaret Riskey and Miss Mabel Teetsel.

SALOON KEEPER WOUNDS WOMAN ABOUT TO SHOOT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, June 27.—The tables were turned today upon Chicago's latest "shooting sheba" when Mrs. Irene Barry, 32, was shot and severely wounded after she had drawn a revolver from her handbag and attempted to kill Dennis Dougherty, with whom she had been keeping company.

Fred Jefferson, in whose cafe the shooting took place, admitted firing the shot, but said he was trying to frighten Mrs. Barry by firing at the door and had no intention of hitting her.

GOVERNMENT MEDIATOR IN TELEPHONE STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 27.—The government today took a hand in the New England telephone strike when the department of labor ordered Anna Weinstock, a commissioner of conciliation, to Boston to attempt to bring about a settlement.

Miss Weinstock settled the New York Clothing Workers strike and has been successful in many recent disputes involving women workers. John Colpoys, another conciliator, also will be ordered to New England.

For Minnie Houghtaling Fund.
Just before sending her check for the Minnie Houghtaling Fund, Mrs. M. Wood the treasurer, received a letter containing an order for $1.35 for the fund, but bearing no name.

The way is taken of acknowledging the gift. Mrs. Wood has sent a check for $288.25 to Frank L. Frost, general manager of the Albany Association for the Blind.

TROLLEY CARS STOP FOR STORM

85-Minute Suspension Tuesday Was To Prevent Possible Damage To Equipment.

Tuesday afternoon during the electrical storm which passed over the city the trolley cars did not operate from 2:55 to 3:30 o'clock. This was due to the fact that the company itself had the power shut off in order to protect the electrical equipment in the cars. Although there is no danger to the passengers still the lightning is very likely to put the motors on the different cars out of order. During the last storm which went over the city four motors were put out of commission which meant that the company had to spend over $200 to have them repaired.

PHONE STRIKE FACTIONS MEET

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, June 27.—With the meeting today between the two rival telephone unions holding out the only apparent hope of an early settlement of the strike, telephone service through many sections of New England was still at a standstill or badly disrupted. In other sections the telephone company had succeeded in reestablishment of normal or nearly normal service. Massachusetts and Rhode Island were still the chief sufferers through the strike, while Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire suffered no serious hardship.

Today's meeting was called at the request of Miss Annie Molloy president of local 1 A for the purpose it is reported, of patching up differences existing between that union and the telephone operators union, of which Julia O'Connor is international president.

E. F. ANDREWS IS MADE RAILWAY OFFICIAL

Fifth Generation to Be Represented in Management.

Elmer F. Andrews has been made assistant engineer in charge of maintenance of way, by the Bangor and Aroostook railroad in Maine, which is good news for his stepfather, Downing Vaux, of this city.

Mr. Andrews is the grandson of M. C. Andrews, master mechanic of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. for over twenty years, and the son of Frank Andrews who built many city lines in New York city, and who died soon after his son was born. Elmer's mother is a daughter of W. C. Baker the celebrated car heating manufacturer. After Elmer's father's death she married Downing Vaux, whose mother was the eldest daughter of James S. McEntee, Sr., who made the first survey for the Ulster & Delaware R. R. She married Calvert Vaux of Central Park fame.

Elmer F. Andrews is a great lover of the Catskills and has spent many summers there on vacations while at Rensselaer College at Troy. In the war, Mr. Andrews was first lieutenant in the aviation corps. Since the war he has been in Cuba in charge of building 200 miles of railroad, now entirely finished.

Elmer F. Andrews was married eight years ago to Ruth Myrdal and the couple have two children.

POPE SAYS EVACUATION OF RUHR MUST PRECEDE PEACE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Rome, June 27.—Pope Plus XI today sent a message to Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, dealing with the Ruhr issue, and suggesting that the allied powers substitute some form of guarantee for German reparations payments other than military occupation of the Ruhr.

"Only after the evacuation of the Ruhr can pacification be reached," said the papal communication.

The message recalls a similar international appeal issued from the Vatican at the time of the historic Genoa conference.

The pontiff pointed out that the failure to reach a settlement by conference had complicated the situation, "justifying fears for the future."

COLONIALS VS. SCHATZ CONTEST CALLED OFF TUESDAY

The scheduled game between the Colonials of this city and the Schatz Club of Poughkeepsie at Poughkeepsie Tuesday was called off on account of rain. The Colonials will now play the Schatz men on Friday at Poughkeepsie and Saturday and Sunday in this city.

U. S. NOT TO COMPETE IN RACE FOR AIR SUPREMACY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 27.—Plans of Great Britain to greatly increase her military air force will not be followed by similar development in the United States, it was stated officially at the war department today.

Masterstock Recital.

The piano pupils of Miss Ethel Masterstock will give a recital on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the Trinity M. E. Church.

NEW LAVA FLOW AT MOUNT ETNA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 27.—A violent new eruption broke out this morning on the south side of Mount Etna's main crater, threatening the observatory on that side of the volcano, according to a Central News dispatch from Rome this afternoon.

Fears are felt in Rome that the observatory would be overwhelmed by the dispatch added.

Professor Carrara reported that the new flow of molten lava was advancing down the south slope of the mountain at the rate of one kilometre (six tenths of a mile) hourly.

IT'S A FINE DAY FOR THE CIRCUS

Sells-Floto Shows at Kingston Fair Grounds This Afternoon and Evening—Circus Up to Expectations—Fine Street Parade Held This Morning.

It was circus day in Kingston today when the big Sells-Floto shows gave an afternoon performance on the Kingston Fair Grounds to almost a capacity audience. The show will be repeated this evening. After the electrical storm of Tuesday afternoon and evening the weather this morning was bright and fair and was neither too hot nor too chilly.

As a result of the fine weather the roads leading into Kingston were filled with those on the way to the circus, and long before the hour fixed for the big street parade the streets along the line of march were lined by men, women and children, all eagerly watching for the first appearance of the parade as it swung into view up the street.

The circus played both afternoon and evening in Middletown and arrived early this morning when the work of unloading was started, watched by the usual large crowd of youngsters. At Middletown the circus did not experience any damage from the severe storm that swept this section.

From Kingston the circus proceeds to Schenectady, where it will play both afternoon and evening tomorrow.

The parade this morning was excellent, with well kept equipment, and the band music kept the blood tingling. In fact it was one of the best circus parades seen in Kingston in some time.

This evening the circus starts at 8:15 o'clock and opens with the spectacular extravaganza, "A Night in Persia."

PLANE ATTEMPTING TO STAY ALOFT 4 DAYS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Diego, Calif., June 27.—The attempt to fly four days and four nights without a pause started at 4:15 this morning at Rockwell Army Aviation Field.

Just as the first streaks of dawn were visible, Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter prepared to go aloft in the special De-Havilland plane in which they hope to keep aloft three times longer than any plane has yet flown.

After a final inspection, they took the air without difficulty in their attempt, during which they will be refilled from the air by "supply" airplanes flying above them at high speed.

MC AULIFFE WINS PUBLIC LINKS TITLE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 27.—When John Dawson, youthful Chicago star, filled on the final nine holes, Raymond McAuliffe, of Buffalo, N. Y., with a score of 153, today won the medalist honors in the qualification round of the public links golf and championship tourney.

But there's no one who is willing to make the loan. And that because the men behind it seem to have "hooked" everything they can hook—$100,000 loans are these days through kindness in these days.

SEVERE HAIL IN SOUTHERN ULSTER

Wet Road Causes Auto Accident—Heavy Rain Up U. & D.—Sheriff Got a Wetting.

Sheriff Koltz and Undersheriff Tunis Haulenbeck, who went to southern Ulster on business Tuesday afternoon, report that the rain storm was very severe in Highland and Modena, but not so heavy in Milton. At Highland hail stones fell as big as marbles and it was reported damaged the fruit considerably. A very large tree in front of Louis Smith's garage in Highland was blown over by the wind and in falling missed an automobile and a gasoline tank by a few inches. In front of the Grace Roberts farm, near Highland, a touring car owned by Frank Laponi of Garfield, N. J., which turned out to pass an auto parked at the side of the road, skidded on the wet road when Laponi put on the brakes in order not to run into a Ford sedan of Sam Cohen of Poughkeepsie coming toward him, and the Laponi car slammed against the Cohen car, knocking it around on the roadway into a bank. Both cars were considerably damaged. Both the sheriff and undersheriff, who were out in a number of showers, were saturated with water.

While the showers were very severe up along the U. & D. Railroad and north of this city, raising the Esopus creek, it was said that the showers were not very heavy in the Rifton section.

PARIS SAILS WITH 12,000 FULL PINTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 27.—Technically "bone dry" but actually carrying 12,000 pints of wine and liquors, the French liner Paris sailed today.

The 12,000 pints were passed by Dr. E. K. Sprague, head of the United States public health service here, as "medical supplies."

Eight thousand of the pints of assorted drinks were crew wine and will not find their way to passengers, the captain and purser assured port authorities.

If the passengers get a drink it will be on a signed order of the ship's doctor that they require it for their health's sake. Customs officers and prohibition agents yesterday poured 105 cases and 345 bottles of the Paris's beer into the river. This was considered cheaper than hauling and storing it.

The French liners Suffren and Conte Verdi, the Cunarder Caronia and the Tuscania of the Anchor Line, were to be boarded by officers today and such liquors removed as Dr. Sprague directs.

BAKER RED HOOK PLANT BURNED

Fighting two fires which resulted in a total damage of $15,000, the village of Red Hook Tuesday morning was aroused from one o'clock until the second fire was extinguished about seven o'clock.

The first fire broke out in the barn of John Coon on South Broadway. The entire barn and outhouses were swept by the fire and practically all of the farming implements stored in the place were a loss. Although frantic efforts to save a valuable team of horses which were in the barn were made the animals perished. It was impossible to enter the seething mass of flames and the firemen were forced to confine their efforts to checking the spread of the fire. Line after line of hose was stretched from the pumps and only after a battle of hours was the fire extinguished.

Just as the last spark was being veiled down on the Coon place an alarm came from the Baker Chocolate plant on Railroad avenue. The firemen shifted from the Coon place to the new blaze. There their efforts were taxed to the utmost. The building, a large frame structure was used as a store room for light lumber. The flames ate their way through the place with a rapidity that defied water. Again the efforts of the firemen were diverted to saving adjoining buildings. The blaze was held in check by the Red Hook fire department and no outside call for help was made.

BIG FIGHT PLANS BADLY MUDDLED

Seems Impossible to Raise $200,000 Needed Before July 4, and Kearns Is Ready to Call It Off.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Great Falls, Mont., June 27.—The fate of the Dempsey-Gibbons battle lies in the hands of Jack Kearns. And Kearns is in the mood to act as its executioner.

DESIRES FOR SECOND WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 27.—Premier Stanley Baldwin's parliamentary announcement that Great Britain was willing to enter into international agreement for limitation of air armaments was interpreted in many quarters today as a veiled invitation to United States to summon another Washington conference.

However, there are obvious obstacles in the way of such a parley. France, which now possesses the most powerful air fleet in the world, has not ratified the Washington conference convention for limitation of the naval armaments.

The Daily Sketch, in commenting upon the government's decision to increase Great Britain's home defense air squadrons from 15 to 52, declared today that a move will make the air forces strong enough to protect Britain in the air from the strongest possible enemy in striking distance.

The total British squadrons of all classes will be increased to 82.

NEWBURGH'S FEW THOUSAND COST $100,000 MORE

The Newburgh Daily News says editorially:

In Kingston the practice is followed of making up the school budget the middle of the year and levying and collecting the tax separate from that for the general municipal government. The coming year's budget, just prepared by the Board of Education, calls for a total of $296,450, which is a large increase from the past year. After deducting amounts to be received from the state and from tuition of non-resident pupils, there remains to be raised by taxation $228,243. Newburgh's school budget for the current year is somewhat less than $190,000 above the Kingston's figures. The total estimates of the local board were $394,300, and after deduction the amount raised by taxation was $312,300. The reason for the higher expenditures here is the larger registration of pupils. Newburgh having a few thousand more population than Kingston.

Denounces Liquor Seizures.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 27.—United States Senator Stanley of Kentucky, in public statement here today denounced the seizure of liquor from foreign ships in United States ports. He predicted that when congress meet action will be taken to "restore the liberty of sea travelers."

FARM AND CITY "SPORTS" WILL MEET AT PICNIC ALONG THE WALLKILL

To See the Cowslip Inn, the Stubble-Jumping Fords Imitate Crabs, the Ladies Hit Their Thumbs and Other Attractions Too Numerous to Mention.

A tractor race if the mud is not too deep, and an obstacle race for Fords running backward will be two of the leading sporting events at the Farm Bureau and Chamber of Commerce picnic on Saturday, August 18, if plans made at a poorly attended but almost frantically busy meeting of the committee of arrangements held Tuesday evening are carried out. A third sporting event of great interest will be a mail driving contest by the ladies. There will also be baseball and, of course, the second annual contest for the Chamber of Commerce cup, to be awarded the winners of the Ulster county championship at Bafayard Golf. Last year Gardiner won this trophy, but there may be another story to tell this year.

Cowslip Inn will be open as usual and there will be an abundance of cold lemonade and hot dogs to mingle with the sandwiches, butter-milk and sweet milk that will be for sale. Several physicians and a corps of competent nurses and stretcher bearers will be in attendance, ready to cope with any emergency.

Nobody knows who the speakers will be, except that Dr. Ruby Green Smith, organization specialist at Cornell, and others of the Home Bureau creed, will be one of them; but whether they are everybody will be able to hear them without crowding, as William Warren will set up a complete battery, or whatever you call it, of amplifiers just like they have when President Harding or William J. Bryan speaks to a multitude.

Some kind of a show will be put on by the boys at Wallkill Camp, anybody who wants to swim or dive in the Wallkill may do so and the Home Bureau ladies are going to think up something beside the mail driving contest.

It is also hoped to have the judging and awarding of prizes in a bread making tournament, the bread to be made at home, brought to the picnic and eaten, to the last crumb, by the judges.

There will be the usual concessions sold to exhibitors and, also as usual, no concessions to sell goods or put on snide "midway" shows.

It is going to be a great day, busy as a three ring circus or a lame dog with fleas and The Freeman hopes to tell more about it from time to time.

OKMULGEE UNDER MARTIAL LAW

National Guardsmen Rule Oklahoma County Following Complaint of Terrorists by Secret Organizations.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Oklmulgee, Okla., June 27.—Five hundred national guardsmen today placed Okmulgee county under martial law by order of Governor J. C. Walton, who declared that city and county authorities had shown themselves unable to cope with "lawlessness which may burst into flame."

The governor's action followed receipt of information that the county was being terrorized by secret organizations which have taken the law into their own hands and embarked upon a campaign of intimidation. A local minister and two other citizens are said to have taken the lead in appealing to the governor for protection.

"Evidence seems to point to the fact that the sheriff's office in Okmulgee county has been inefficient to the situation and no relief can be expected from that source," Alfred Blake, the governor's secretary is quoted as saying, in explaining the declaration of martial law.

National guard companies from Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Muskogee and Wekiva, which are enforcing martial law, are commanded by Brigadier General Alva N. Niles.

FOUR THEORIES OF CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 27.—The Kings county grand jury today began its investigation of the Brooklyn elevated wreck which Monday took a toll of seven lives and injured 11 persons.

Four groups of investigators will appear before the jurors. All are expected to have a different theory of what caused the tragedy.

The first witness will be the officials of Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Company. W. S. Menden, president of the road will testify.

Mayor John F. Hylan, who is conducting a separate investigation, will also be a witness, as will George McAneny, chairman of the transit commission, who is in charge of another probe.

District Attorney Charles Dodd of Brooklyn and Mayor Hylan are agreed on their version of the disaster which caused two cars to plunge from a 50 foot elevated structure to the street.

"Lack of proper regulation of the transit companies by the transit commission is responsible for this disaster," said Hylan.

"A bolt appears to have fallen out of the track and to have derailed the cars—it was an act of God and not a thing which could have been avoided," was Menden's statement.

"A falling bolt, which appears to have lodged itself in a frog and derailed the cars seems to have caused the accident," McAneny's investigators said.

Told to Leave Town.

George Jospin, a traveling tourist, got drunk Tuesday evening and was arrested by Officer Schrick. a large number of commodities, the purchasing power of the American dollar is now two cents more than it was a month ago, the federal reserve board announced today in making public an optimistic review of general business conditions in the United States.

basic materials along with full employment and good wages for labor were cited as outstanding features in the favorable industrial situation.
Buying strength of American people is now being exerted at maximum despite the seasonal changes.
Production and shipment of goods
by factories continue in heavy volume throughout the United States.
Labor of all kinds is finding employment. Some industries have granted wage increase in the general demand for labor. Larger demand for goods has resulted in steady increase in the size of payrolls among some classes of industrial establishments. Wage advances were most generally in the cotton, steel, meat packing and sugar refining industries.

The board's reports showed there is a shortage of farm labor. In agriculture the condition of winter and spring wheat is less favorable than a year ago. The cotton crop is in slightly better condition, owing to more favorable growing conditions in Texas.

Heavy purchasing of goods is indicated by active distribution reported by manufacturers and by the heavy movement of merchandise and freight reported by the railroads.
Loadings of freight on railroads exceeded all other records for this season of the year. Both retail and wholesale trade was in larger volume than last month. Wholesale reports larger sales of meat, hardware and shoes. Sales of clothing and dry goods decreased.

A feature of the general prosperity prevailing is an increase of $38,- 000,000 in the volume of money in circulation. The increase is principally in gold and silver certificates.
Bank loans in principal cities which have been increasing since early in the year declined sharply last month.

GARDINER HAD BIG FIRE SCARE

A near catastrophe took place Tuesday morning in the village of Gardiner, when a fire was discovered in a blacksmith shop at the entrance to the community from the west.

The wind blowing the burning embers had the stoops of several houses on fire. The timely appearance of the Orange Hose Company pumper from Walden, it is believed, saved the village.

It was about 6:15 a. m. when Chief Wiley of Walden received a call by telephone from Dr. Howard Lemming asking aid, and it took the Walden firemen just 28 minutes to reach Gardiner with the large black combination pumper.

The fire which began in a blacksmith shop with dwellings overhead, of unknown origin. The flames consumed a large barn in which much machinery and two Buick autos were destroyed. A large dwelling then took fire and burning lumber had several house tops burning. The residents of the village with buckets were tolling like hammers, and doing good work when the Walden firemen arrived and took their pumper up in a nearby brook, they soon drowned out the fire and smoldering shingles.

A hand pumper of an early make was out of condition and worthless and the village residents were almost frantic. The Walden firemen state that an expression of great relief came over their faces as the fire pumper arrived and they were greeted with open arms. Breakfast was served and the firemen were commended for their services. Chief Wiley, W. E. Cooper, "Bob" Park and Joe Park and M. N. Brown accompanied the truck.

STORM KILLED
FOUR IN NEW YORK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, June 27.—Cooler weather prevailed here today following last evening's electrical storm which took a toll of four lives, injured more than a score, and caused $500,000 damage to property in New York and vicinity.

After two days during which the mercury hovered around the 90 mark, the temperature at 8 o'clock this morning was 68 with a cool breeze blowing.

Broadway was in mourning this morning. At the Lambs, Friars and Green room clubs plans were discussed for a public burial for Bert Savoy, Everett L. Mackenzie, who with Jay Brennan formed one of the most widely known vaudeville teams on the American stage. Savoy was killed by a lightning bolt at Long Beach.

LIGHTNING HIT
CITY HALL TOWER

During the severe electrical storm that broke over the city late Tuesday afternoon a bolt of lightning struck the tower on the city hall putting the fire bell that hangs in the tower out of commission. The police signal system was also out of commission until repairs were made. When lightning struck the tower, which was not damaged, a ball of fire shot down the wires leading from the tower to the ground below.

The electrical storm broke the back of the torrid wave that has held the city in its grip for several days past. Following the storm there was a cooling breeze that blew throughout the evening.

Shoe on Other Feet.

I had worked in a well-known plant on the fourth floor of the building and knew all the girls on that floor. I left and came back about one month later to take charge of the fifth floor.

The plant had a cafeteria in the basement and at noon I went down for luncheon and joined five of my old friends. They were very glad to see me back and asked what floor I was working on. I told them the fifth. One named Martha said, "The fifth! They have a new forelady there and say she is awful." Others chimed in with as much and worse.

Asked how I liked this forelady, I said I liked her and was sure she would try and do her best by all the girls and treat all as well as she knew how. They asked me to describe her and I readily described myself, but the "pumpers" did not catch on. An old Irish lady next to me did. Nudging me, she said: "Go on; you're the forelady." Martha asked, "Are you?" I said, "I am."

Five girls got up from the table and disappeared.—Chicago Tribune.

Good Work of Wireless.

Broadcasting, which has become almost a mania in England, has been applied to novel purposes in the last few days. At midnight the Manchester station sent forth an appeal for volunteers for a blood transfusion to save the life of a man dying in a hospital after the amputation of an arm. Within an hour four men arrived at the institution to offer their blood, but the patient had died in the interval. One of the volunteers traveled five miles. A few evenings ago a woman residing in a country town which has no telephone or telegraph service at night, was brought to the bedside of her son, who was dying in London. The woman's neighbors had heard the call sent out for her by wireless.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN
AT ULSTER LANDING

Fire completely destroyed the large barn of Fred Cosbighione at Ulster Landing on Monday morning. The farm was formerly owned by E. L. Griffin. The stock was in the pasture at the time with the exception of one heifer which was burned to death. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have been the cause of the fire as some new hay had just been put in.

A CHECK TO WET HOPES.

The high hopes of the wets are at a lower level today. The Democrats will not think of putting anything like a wet plank in their platform, let alone nominating a wet candidate. Such is the word reported from Washington, and such is the word reported from Democrats who have recently visited Governor Smith and come away praising him as an admirable man but stating that as he is now distinctly known as a wet his nomination is out of the question. The multitude of wets in the Eastern States who rejoiced when Governor Smith signed the repeal of the Mulan-Gage act, who believed that the Democrats would nominate him for President, and who mingled confident belief with their high hopes that he would be elected, are now in all probability pretty low in spirit.

This development of affairs is attributed largely to the influence of Southern Democrats. The voice of the South is potent because nobody can quite see the election of a Democratic President without the South's help. From all accounts the South is well satisfied with prohibition—even the ubiquitous wets—because it is an easy yoke. The Southerner with a thirst likes prohibition because he can have it and his liquor at the same time; he thinks it helps to keep order among the negroes and he knows it pleases the women and the churches. A recent English visitor who spent some months in this country reported that in New York people speak bitterly of the Volstead act and do their drinking secretly, while in the South people have only praise for the Volstead act and do their drinking openly. That British inquirer made pretty good use of both his eyes and ears. Even the Southerners who have and are determined to hold a well established "modus vivendi" have no intention of offending the women and clergymen who camped in the legislative chambers of Tennessee, for example, and forced the ratification of the eighteenth amendment with hymns, prayers and threats. The South may be inconsistent, but its attitude is a fact which wet Democrats of the North must reckon with.

CONTENTED NEGROES.

There is no discontent among the negroes of Durham, N. C., and presumably no northward migration from that neighborhood, if C. C. Spaulding, a prominent black man of that place is representative of his people. He is president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Durham and, according to the Durham Herald, he has a reputation for good judgment and character among business men of both races. His published statement in the Herald undertakes to show, not why negroes are leaving other parts of the South, but why they are contented to stay in and around Durham. He says that the 8,000 negroes of that city live on peaceful and friendly terms with the whites, that large numbers of them find steady and remunerative employment in several tobacco factories and hosiery mills, that the white people of Durham show a desire to make the negroes a permanent and valued part of the population, that the ballot is not denied because of color, that adequate educational opportunities are provided for negroes, that there has never been a lynching in Durham, and that negroes there are given "an honest hearing" in the courts.

It will be urged that Durham is an exception, and no doubt even in Durham there are less successful and discontented negroes who would not admit that the conditions are so favorable, but the Spaulding statement is notable and worthy of wide attention as proof that there are two sides to the question.

LIQUOR AND SLAVE SMUGGLING.

In its comparison of rum-running with the continuation of the slave trade after it became illegal the Springfield Republican is not quite accurate when it says that "as late as 1858 the yacht Wanderer landed 300 African negroes at Brunswick, Ga., and they were sold as far north as Memphis." The Wanderer, sailing under the flag of the New York Yacht Club, landed 750 negroes from the Congo on the coast of Georgia as late as the spring of 1859 and they were successfully disposed of to planters in the interior. But the Republican is altogether correct when it shows that the slave trade persisted to a large extent for fifty years after the Constitution outlawed it in 1808. There were Southern authorities who winked at it and Northern traders who continued to make a great deal of money out of it, as they had done for generations before. Rhode Island alone having 160 vessels in the then legitimate trade as late as 1870, according to the showing of John R. Spears in his "American Slave Trade."

The persistence of the illegal slave trade for half a century and its extinction only by a great war and the hanging of several convicted smugglers may be regarded as precedent or history likely to be more than repeated in the case of liquor smuggling. The latter promises to enjoy an even larger and more vigorous existence because the world's opinion is not opposed to it to anything like the extent that it was set against the illegal slave trade. The illicit trade in human beings was almost universally regarded as morally heinous, while liquor smuggling is everywhere condoned except in the United States, and even in the United States probably at least half of the people look upon it as merely a statutory offense. There is this marked difference and obviously it will have to be taken into account in all considerations of the future of liquor smuggling.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Where do doves grow?
2. What sort of an animal is the chinchilla?
3. Can you make robins use any sort of nesting box?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

1. What is the meaning of the gopher's name?
It is said to come from a French word, gaudre, meaning honeycomb; and to be applied to these small rodents because of their habit of making a honeycomb under the earth's surface by their persistent tunnelling.

2. If birds depend on their tails for steering gear, how do birds with short tails manage?
Some of them, like murres, hold the legs so folded backward against the body as to make a sort of rudder which helps out with the insufficient tail. Moving pictures of murres and birds on their general type show the use of the feet in this posture.

3. Are any of the giant tortoises living today, except those you see in zoos, that they claim are over 100 years old?
Yes, though much more restricted than formerly. They live "wild on the Galapagos Island, off the coast of Ecuador, and on islands near Madagascar. Introduced specimens in the Seychelles Islands are under government protection, and as they breed successfully there, it is hoped to save the species from extinction. They were in native homes originally numerous, but being edible, were sought by passing ships for rations, and greatly reduced in numbers.

SOVIETS MAY ADOPT MORE TOLERANT POLICY.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 27.—Release of Archbishop Tikhon, former patriarch of the Russian Church, who has long been in jail in Russia under charges of conspiracy and treason, may be the forerunner of a policy of religious tolerance by the Soviet, according to advices from Moscow today.

Hope is expressed here that Archbishop Glepak and other ecclesiastical prisoners will soon be released. Advices from Riga say Latvian newspapers insist that Archbishop Tikhon died in prison June 18 under circumstances pointing to poisoning.

Third Internationale at Moscow Sunday adopted a resolution saying that while private citizens might practice religion, prominent leaders among the communists must repudiate religion entirely as part of their political policy.

Road Design Is Feature of Traffic Regulation

Traffic regulation is a problem of road design and maintenance, in the mind of the highway engineer, Charles J. Bennett, Connecticut state highway commissioner, told highway department representatives of 20 states at a conference recently held at Harrisburg, Pa. He spoke on the experience of the states in traffic regulation and said the necessity for providing highways over which motorcars can travel at all times of the year must be the first principle considered, Bennett said that he is selling service to the public and the problem of traffic regulation as connected with the design and maintenance of the road is a very important part of his work.

He advocated the widening of roads, particularly on curves and dangerous points, to provide for emergency conditions. He told the conference that Connecticut has partially solved the problem of safety at such points by placing a concrete strip in the center of an asphalt road to divide traffic. He said that a standard form of signal should be adopted for railroad crossings and advocated the use of reflecting type signals for curves.

Overloading of trucks was censured by the speaker, who said that "with the constantly increasing use of the motor-trucks and at times of congestion with the necessity of concentrated use of the motortruck, the temptation and tendency is to overload, and a regulation of this particular evil should be drastic, severe, thorough and continuous."

The regulation of speed and operation at dangerous points, he called a matter of policing, saying: "We should be careful to so define the limits of truck and passenger car dimensions that the highway engineer can intelligently design his roads to furnish the service which the public has a right to demand in return for the expenditure of such tremendous sums of money as are being invested in the highway service."

Oil Prevents Sand Dunes Shifting on New Roads

One serious obstacle to improved road building, particularly in the Northwest, has been the shifting sand dunes which cover up a highway soon after it is completed, and to remedy this evil the bureau of public roads of the Department of Agriculture has resorted to the spraying of the sand with oil. Fifty-three miles of construction of the Columbia river highway from The Dalles eastward lie through sandy country in many places of a volcanic ash as light as flour. As fast as cuts are opened up and fills made in this light soil the wind whips out the fill slopes and sand dunes creep into rock cuts, completely blocking the road. Oil is the only agency yet found to stop the trouble.

The equipment used to spray the crude oil consists of two supply tanks, or drums, in which the oil is carried from the storage tank at the railway siding, and a tractor, which draws the oiling rig and supplies the steam through a hose to the compressor tank, which is carried on a trailer. The oil is heated by the steam and forced through a hose with a nozzle consisting of a half-inch pipe. The steam atomizes the oil and sends it in a fine spray for 100 feet or more, depending on whether the spray is projected in the direction of the wind or against it. For obvious reasons, spraying is usually carried on in the direction of the wind. Where sufficient oil is used this means of controlling the sand dunes is very effective, and it is believed that the cost will not be excessive.

Destruction of Roads Due to Heavy Impacts

It is agreed by experts who have made numerous tests that the greater part of the destruction of hard-surfaced roads is due to the heavy impacts of the motor wheels, and the contention, which seems to be just, has been that these trucks should pay taxes high enough to insure the repair of the roads in the proportion in which they use them. Little damage is done by the numerous pneumatic-tired pleasure cars which travel these roads.

Modern Built Highways Are Built of Concrete

Modern paved roads which are superceding macadam are built of concrete or with brick or bituminous surfacing on a concrete base. In the most expensive types the concrete is reinforced with steel. The tendency of state engineering departments, moreover, is to build them much as modern railroads are built—with low grades, few curves and without grade crossings.

Every Automobile Owner Interested in Highways

Well-built roads and how they should be built is of interest to every truck and automobile owner. He pays very large taxes assessed on the basis, principally, of road maintenance, and he should interest himself in seeing that his county commissioners place road work not only with the lowest bidder, but with the contractors that thoroughly understand the business of building road beds that will far outlast the surface.

Hatch Eggs in Decaying Plants.

The Australian brush turkey lays its eggs on the top of a heap of decaying vegetation, which it has piled up to a height of fifteen feet or so. The eggs are laid at a depth of five or six feet, and left to hatch themselves by the warmth generated by the decaying matter.

COL. HOLT AT ROTARY MEETING

Tells Why Standing Army of 115,000 Is Too Small—More Cars Needed For Boys' Plank.

Colonel Holt, stationed at West Point, was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Wednesday; his subject being the present military situation with reference to an adequate standing army. Our isolation and our ideals as a peace loving people are such that we do not require a large standing army, but in the opinion of Colonel Holt the present army of 115,000 is not enough. In order to furnish troops for garrison and police duty and a mobile force for the training of officers, we should have from 250,000 to 300,000 men. We cannot count on perpetual world peace and we must have a large corps of trained officers, which we can obtain only by having an establishment large enough to afford them training. Trained officers can be trained in as short a time as six weeks. A large proportion of West Point graduates function as teachers in various schools where men are trained to become officers in case of need.

Chairman Scudder, of the boys' work committee, stated that more automobiles were needed for the picnic to be given the boys on Friday of this week.

There will be no meeting on Wednesday, July 4.

At the time of the recent induction into scouting of Governor Davis of Kansas, a big piece of work for the Near East was in progress. Standing on the state-house steps, the governor made the great scout promises and was installed as an "honorary tenderfoot." A bodyguard of scouts saluted the distinguished new member, and then promptly set him to work sacking old clothes. Before the day closed the bundles amounted to a carload.

Five weeks a scout and then a hero is the record of Albert Bentley of the American Legion scout troop, Battle Creek, Mich.

Scout Bentley and eleven-year-old Mark Kinsley were on the ice of Battle creek, about fifteen feet from shore, when the ice gave way and both boys slipped through into water eight feet deep.

Although the lads were good swimmers they were handicapped by their heavy boots and clothing and could make little progress in pulling themselves up. The scout finally struck a solid place in the ice, climbed up and was starting for the shore when he saw that his companion was still in the water and crying for assistance. Bentley, shivering from his icy bath and braving the cold wind that stiffened his drenched clothes, hastened back over the treacherous ice and dragged the smaller boy to safety.

The scout, when asked about the affair, related it in a matter-of-fact, brief way, devoid of any thrills. Despite this modest account, the heroic act of the boy will be brought to the attention of the local court of honor.

Dear Sir:—We received your telegram and bill of lading covering shipment of twelve hundred pounds of old clothing from Kingston, New York.

On behalf of the Near East Relief, I wish to thank you for your splendid cooperation in helping to make this campaign in New York a success. Because of your efforts many orphans and refugees will be clothed during the coming winter.

Will you kindly extend to those who took part in this contribution our sincere thanks for their generosity. Thanking you personally for your interest and cooperation, I am, sincerely yours,

This was "Cruelty."

All of us who have ever lived in apartment houses any length of time felt a wave of sympathy sweep over us the other day when we saw in the paper that a woman is suing her husband for divorce because he threatened to join a band. This sympathy, needless to say, was for the woman, no matter what was the sex of the reader. For all modern cliff dwellers know that there is no apartment house, however defended, but now and then harbors within its walls some man who has that same dream, or mania—who some dark and stormy night smuggles in under his coat a cornet or a B-flat clarinet and a little volume telling how to become a Liars' Club member, and immediately starts in to prove the book a liar.

At all times puppet-shows have appealed strongly to the artistic and creative temperament. Over 200 years ago a staid member of the French academy, Moliere, wrote plays for the marionette stage, one of them being performed before the duke of Bourbon in 1706. Voltaire not only enjoyed such diversions, but on one occasion assisted in manipulating the figures.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

NEAR EAST WANTS SCOUTING

The Near East relief after a number of experiments has decided the boy scout program of high ideals, constructive work and wholesome play is the best means of restoring morale, health and aim in life to the boys of that far-away land who have suffered such cruel effects of the World war. The American committee has turned to the Boy Scouts of America for assistance in securing trained leaders to carry on scouting in Armenia and the surrounding territory.

In Armenia there are at present 5,000 scouts, and three times that many boys eagerly awaiting leadership. The largest orphanage in the world at Alexandropol in the Caucasus, caring for 17,000 children, is another example of the vast field the Near East offers the worker in child welfare.

By its present program the committee cares fully for 64,107 Armenian and other orphans, and feeds 50,000 more. There are thousands for whom nothing is done. Food, shelter and clothing are the major items of expense and of need. But the main objective is to instill into these boys and girls hope, faith and ideals that will develop moral and spiritual leadership for the coming years. This can be accomplished through a well-planned program of study, work and play, and thus scouting can play so important a part.

The brotherhood of the scout movement has been strongly demonstrated by the good turns of American members for their afflicted friends in the Near East. In scores of cities and towns our scouts have achieved noble records in donations of money, oftentimes earned through their own efforts, in the collecting of clothing for the refugees and in the preparing of bundles for shipment.

At the time of the recent induction into scouting of Governor Davis of Kansas, a big piece of work for the Near East was in progress. Standing on the state-house steps, the governor made the great scout promises and was installed as an "honorary tenderfoot." ## THE RIDE

A little girl named Melly was taken for a long automobile ride.

They started early, early in the morning, and the dew was then covering everything. Oh, how fresh and lovely the country did look.

It seemed so rich, and the trees looked their very best. There were many birds to be seen, and the very first one of all she saw was an indigo bird.

Melly loved the pretty old houses they went by. "In the Barnyard," they went by.

They went along roads through some mountains. On either side of them and all about it seemed as though there were great mountains and hills.

They seemed to be peeping above each other as though to say: "I can see farther than you."

And then another still higher mountain would be seen, and it seemed to be saying: "I'm closer to Mr. Sky than any of you are. Yes, I'm a tall mountain. You'd never call me a little thing!"

The mountain ridges, the deep gorges, the lovely country itself—oh, how beautiful it all was. What a wonderful mother was Mother Nature.

She knew how to dress her children so that they wore the most becoming costumes.

Sometimes the mountains drew about themselves the loveliest of misty capes and shawls. Oh, how pretty they were.

And before long Mr. Sun came out and shone so that the dew left saying, "We'll have to go now. But we'll be back again."

Melly saw pretty waterfalls and quiet green pools. And there were blue iris flowers which grew in ponds.

She saw cows who lazily ate grass and some of them walked through fields of buttercups as though to say, "Although we don't shout with delight we enjoy these buttercup walks of ours!"

One cow lazily flicked a fly off her ear and looked so very, very lazy as though she would admire the beauty about her but it really was too much trouble.

Melly saw horses with coverings on their ears to keep off the flies.

Some of the mountains she passed now looked almost like pictures of mountains rather than real ones!

They were blue and purple and misty while some seemed aglow with dazzling sunlight, while others had such lovely shadows over them.

Melly saw a thrasher bird and then a big meadow lark, and many baby chickens were to be seen in the barnyards they passed by.

Melly saw a lady looking after her garden and it seemed as though she must have asked the earth to be particularly helpful, for such lovely flowers were growing in this garden.

And when Melly saw the lady digging around a plant it seemed to her that the earth and the lady were in partnership to make beautiful flowers.

She patted the earth as though she were fond of it for being so good to her flowers.

They passed sheep and in a field they went by a white horse. The horse seemed to be enjoying the air from the way he sniffed at it with such pleasure.

There were pink and purple and red and white columbines growing along railway tracks and they seemed to say, "It's not very pretty along here so we thought we would try to improve the looks of this part of the country!"

And indeed they did!

There were cowslips and all kinds of flowers, and butterflies flew happily about.

Birds twittered and chatted and sang.

Melly wondered if some of the birds didn't think it was curious that people didn't stop to hear their songs instead of tooting and honking their horns and going straight along the road!

They passed rushing brooks, and when they stopped, later on, for lunch, Melly saw a pale green bug with six legs and something over its back which looked like a little green cape.

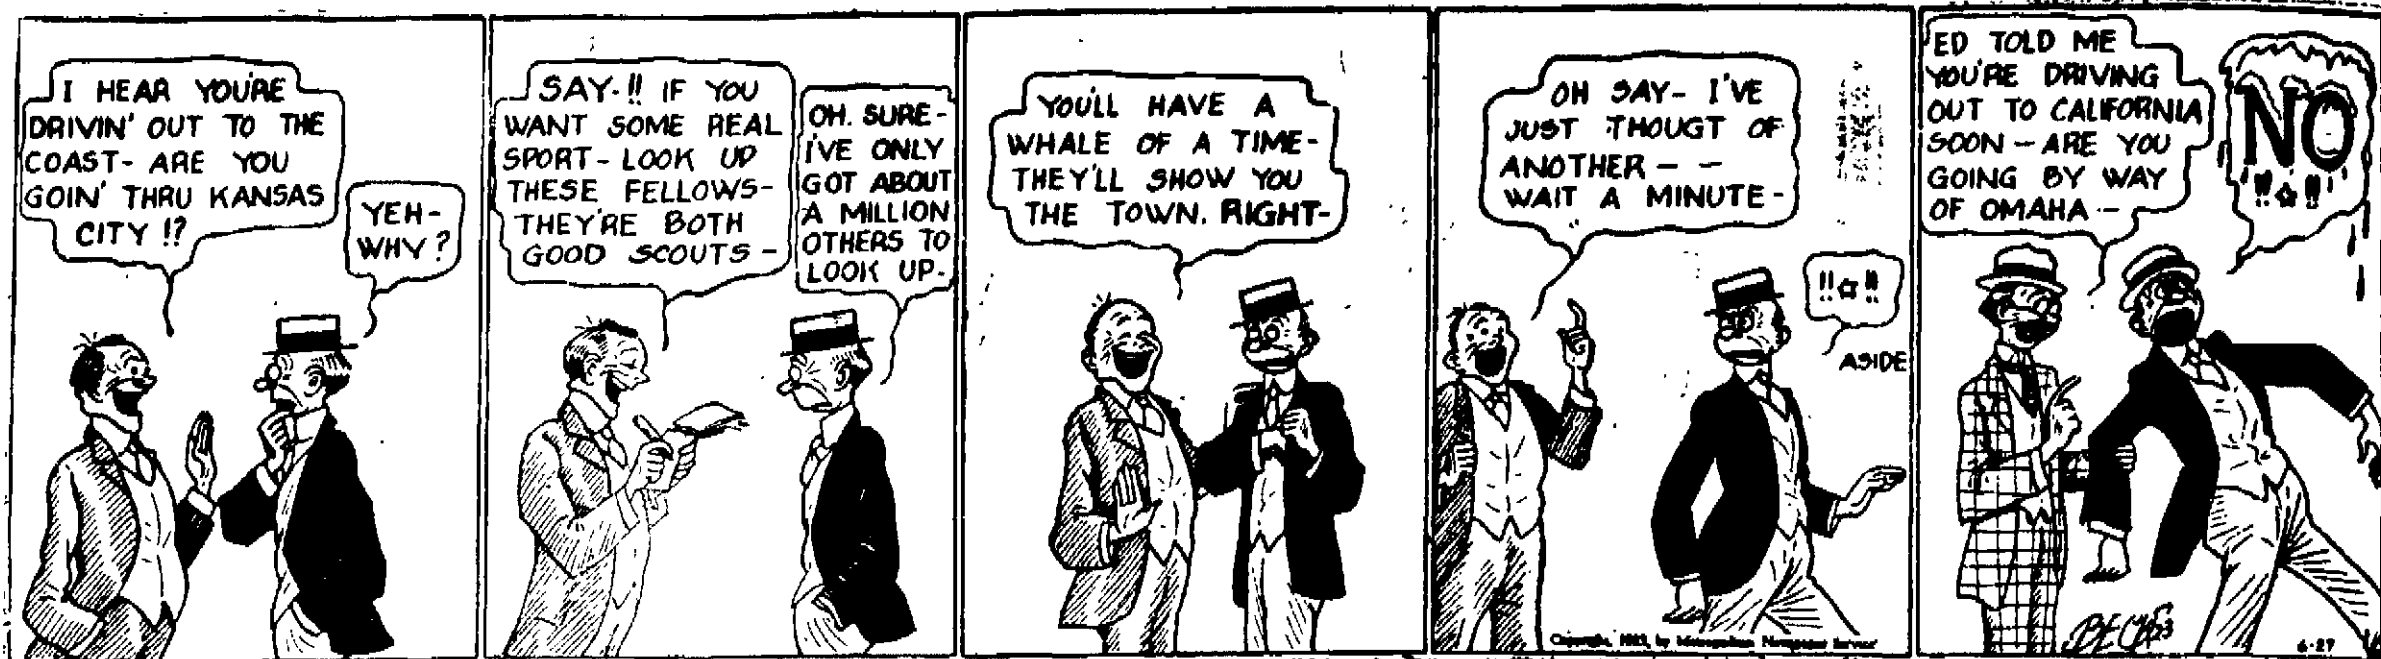

It crawled over Melly's lap as though to see if there was anything about for it, and then it went to a branch of a nearby shrub and later jumped down again to Melly's lap.

And oh, what a beautiful ride it was! Yes, Melly said to herself, Mother Nature certainly knew how to look after her children.

Until July 4th all Hart Schaffner & Marx Suits, Topcoats and Raincoats—All wearing apparel at 80c on the dollar.

FEEDING THE FAMILY

Why is it that the housewives who have families of children who need nourishing, body-building food are purposely indifferent or willfully ignorant? They will neither read nor ask advice about the proper feeding of a growing family, but eat just what appeals to the eye in the market, regardless of cost or nutritive value. The woman who feeds her family on four or five cucumbers at a cost of a dollar and a quarter at this season is giving them something they may like, but is absolutely without nourishment, unless served with a rich sauce. One quarter of the money put into a good piece of soup meat and cooked with vegetables would make a fine meal for six or eight.

The pity of it is these women who need it most are the hardest to approach in teaching food values.

Don't buy foods that have few calories, for it is calories we need to keep us mentally and physically strong. A calorie means a certain amount of energy. We eat a potato of 100-calorie value and it becomes a part of us, is burned up in the body and produces a certain amount of energy. Each person needs a certain amount; for some it may be 2,500 a day; others need 3,000. One can always judge the food value of any product by the number of calories it contains; that is, how much energy will it give you when eaten. Lettuce, a lively head, or a beautiful green cucumber may be big and strong-looking, but has no nourishment; however, lettuce is valuable as it is rich in vitamins and should be served frequently because of them.

Buying foods out of season unless for a dainty for an invalid, is very extravagant. It takes will power to pass by the tempting things in the market that look so attractive, but if we are wise we will buy the food that will furnish the most energy for the money.

VON HINDENBURG AGAIN GLITTERS

As He Confers Knighthood Of Order Of St. John On German Nobles—Pre-War Military Splendor Revived.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Potsdam, June 27.—Greeted with all the pomp and enthusiasm of pre-war days, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg today officiated at ceremonies of the historic Order of St. John when knighthood was conferred upon new members.

Large crowds cheered Hindenburg when he arrived and drove to the church where the ceremonies were conducted.

The field marshal, attired in a uniform glittering with medals, held a gigantic sword in his hand with which he gave the accolade, this being a smart blow over the shoulders with sword blade.

Knights of the order wore black coats with the white cross of the organization upon the breast. Many high army officers were present.

The order, which is headed by Prince Eitel Friedrich, son of the former kaiser, admits only nobles to membership.

All the splendor and military pageantry of pre-war days were present. Hindenburg was almost crushed when his admirers swarmed around him to shake his hand.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

To Those Who Made Possible Near East Shipment.

The clothing committee of the Near East Relief appointed at the request of the Lieutenant Governor, George A. Luna, through the mayor, takes pleasure in reporting that on Saturday, June 23, it shipped to New York by the courtesy of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, which transported the goods free of charge, six boxes of warm clothing and one box of old shoes for the use of refugees in the Near East next winter, and weighing about one thousand pounds. The committee desires to express its thanks to the donors of this splendid contribution so typical of Kingston's charitable impulse; to the Central Hudson Steamboat Company for its free transportation and to the ladies and gentlemen, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, who assisted in this good work.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, June 26.—Those who visited at J. W. Kelder's on Sunday were H. Roosa and family of Stone Ridge, H. S. Kelder and family of Olive Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Van Kleeck and Mrs. Decker of Tabasco and Miss Shurter of Samsonville.

F. N. Davis and son are doing carpenter work at Cold Brook. Joseph Mayers, proprietor of the Bide-A-Wee, is expected home this week for the summer.

Many people from this place expect to spend the Fourth of July at Krumville.

Alberta Kelder is spending a few weeks at Hurley with her sister, Mrs. L. D. Jansen.

Kelder and Son, the butchers, are kept busy delivering meat and buying calves.

"Treasure Island" Imaginary.

Although many so-called "treasure islands" have, at different times, been designated as the special one described by Robert Louis Stevenson in his famous novel, "Treasure Island," it is generally believed that, when writing his story, he had no particular island in view, but simply called upon his imagination to evolve such scenes, places and incidents as were necessary for the successful working out of his plot. It is quite possible, however, that he may have read something about these numerous "treasure islands," and, perhaps, may even have utilized some of the incidents related, but certainly the "Treasure Island," as he depicts it, is in existence only in the pages of his novel.

First Use of Bread.

The word bread is thought by many etymologists to have been derived from the old word "bray," which meant to pound. The grain was pounded or "brayed"—hence the name bread for the product. Sometimes the word bread is used for food in general, as in the old French proverb: "It is a long day—a day without bread." The most primitive way of making bread was by soaking whole grain in water, subjecting it to pressure and drying it in the sun. Later the use of ferments was discovered, the grain was ground between two stones, kneaded by hand or by the feet in a trough and then baked in an oven by artificial heat.

TAKE WHITFIELD TO CLEVELAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Detroit, June 27.—Cleveland detectives were to leave today with John L. Whitfield, 48, arrested here late last night for the murder of Dennis Griffin, Cleveland policeman, May 11.

With ten Detroit detectives, Charles O. Nevel, lieutenant of Cleveland detectives, arrested Whitfield at the yards of the Terres Coal and Lumber Company, where he was employed as a night barn foreman.

Extreme precautions were taken to prevent Whitfield from duplicating his escape at Madison, Wis., where he pushed his captors from him and disappeared behind a passing street car.

The officers, heavily armed, surrounded the coal yards and captured Whitfield.

Whitfield admitted he was with Griffin when he was shot, but declared Griffin shot himself in a struggle.

Griffin was killed while taking Whitfield to jail in Cleveland.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, June 27.—The June festival held in All Saints' parish house, on June 19th was attended by a large and appreciative audience. The orchestra of young ladies and their friends from Holy Cross Church, Kingston, who rendered a program of music and song, deserve much credit for their ability. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Braley, Misses Winter, Rand and Weaver. The program interspersed with orchestral numbers, was given with vim and precision, and heartily applauded. A delightful number was the exhibition solo dance by Miss Anna Mae Brandow, and she was recalled gracefully responding. Violin duets by John Regan and Carlton Kelder accompanied by Miss Coral Kelder were much enjoyed. Miss Teresa Nichols of Cottekill sang "The Journey's End" very sweetly, also accompanied Miss Edith Cronan in her songs. Captain Walter Hough was heard in several songs and received great applause, also interpreting a banjo. The farce "Pat's Mistake," sung and acted by Miss Edith Cronan and Arthur Eldridge, in appropriate costume, was so well rendered, as to elicit no end of applause, and caused much merriment. In fact each and every one did their best, and were warmly appreciated. We feel most grateful to all who participated in assisting in any way towards this delightful affair, which has added near $60 for the benefit of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Messrs Lynch and Guise sent their busses around town to bring patrons to the entertainment free, also Myers' bus for favors. We thank them all, also The Kingston Freeman for their help.

Mrs. Harry Eppes, from Accord, gave a most interesting lecture on "Nutrition," before the Home Bureau members, in the Rosendale School House recently. Mrs. Eppes is local leader, and certainly had her subject well prepared. Score cards were given out, and results in arranging proper diet, at home, for families, is looked forward to with interest.

The fine weather has resulted in a number of out door affairs. The strawberry festival held by the Sunshine Society was well attended for the benefit of the Baptist Church.

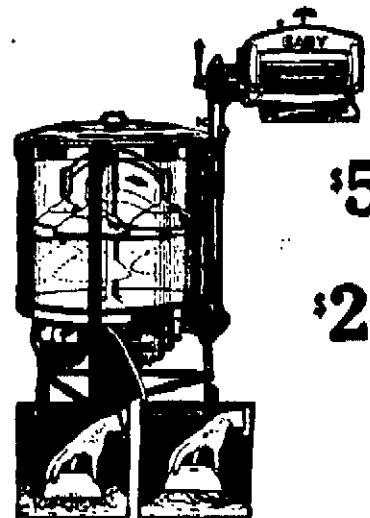

Asleep at Their Desks.

POLICEMAN DISCOVERS REMARKABLE FOOT REMEDY

Spills Well-Known Lintment and Relieves Aching, Burning Condition.

NEW USE TRIPLES SALES OF CARTER'S

Wholesale case-lot orders of Carter's Lintment from the Police Department of a large eastern city caused us to investigate the purpose for which the Lintment was to be used. It seemed impossible that policemen would be so troubled with aching joints and rheumatism and other aches and pains—for which Carter's Lintment has long been known as a quick and certain remedy. Our investigation showed, that a certain policeman when applying Carter's to a strained ankle, spilled the Lintment so that it covered his entire foot. That day the Carter-treated foot was cool and comfortable. The other foot was hot, sweaty, burning and aching as usual. He passed the word around and very soon Carter's as a foot aid was recommended in general orders. This suggestion is passed on to all who suffer from corns, callouses, bunions or tired, burning, aching feet. An application morning and evening—using plenty of the Lintment and bathing the feet well with it keeps the feet fit. As most people know, Carter's has the best soothing, pain-relieving effect of any Lintment, and in addition is pleasant to use. It has a pleasant odor which evaporates on application and contains no oil to stain the clothing. Make it a point to drop in at the next drug store you pass and get a 30c bottle of Carter's.

THIRSTY PASSENGERS MUST ESTIMATE THEIR CAPACITY

Red Tape on White Star Boats Bound This Way.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. London, June 27.—All the efficiency of a budget is introduced in drinking upon American-bound liners of the White Star line as a result of the controversy raging today over the American supreme court's dry ship decision.

Documents are now being issued by the White Star line to prospective passengers regarding the amount of beverage liquor they desire to consume between the time the vessel leaving and the moment they reach American territorial waters at the three mile limit.

Following is a copy of the document:

"I hereby request the managers to ship by the S. S. — sailing from — on the — the under-mentioned wines and spirits for consumption while on the high seas outside the territorial waters of the United Kingdom and the United States of America, and as I understand the laws do not permit of alcoholic liquors being landed, I undertake to dispose of same before arriving within three miles of the United States, and to conform to the laws and regulations of that country as regards such liquor.

"I further undertake to pay the purser of the steamship — on demand the sum of $ — being the value of the supplies as ordered here by."

Three days notice are required on the part of the would-be self rationers. The forms are printed on blue paper with long ruled columns in which to specify the kinds of beverages desired.

WAGE INCREASES IN THE FACTORIES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, June 27.—Factory workers' earnings continue to advance in New York state. The statement issued today by Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shientag shows that average weekly earnings were $27.63 in May which is 63 cents higher than in April, and more than three dollars higher than in May of last year. More than three-quarters of the industry divisions of the state reported increases in May and about one-third of the increases were for one dollar or more.

The increase in average earnings may be ascribed almost entirely to wage rate increases. The halt in the rising trend of employment and wholesale and retail prices has not yet extended to wage rates. More than three-quarters of the industry divisions of the state reported higher wage scales. Both the number of establishments and the number of employees affected was considerably greater than last month and that was much the highest month for wage rate increases since 1920. The number of employees who received increases from April to May was several times as great as in any previous month since the rise began. It does not appear that working time increased except in the seasonal industries like the brick yards and the canning factories.

GANNA WALSKA IN PARIS DEBUT

Took Mental Suggestion To Insure Success At Opera House Where She Showed Complete Self Control.

(Copyright 1923 by International News Service.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, June 27.—In the famous old Latin quarter of Paris where Svengali hypnotized the singer-heroin of George Dumas's novel "Triby" Mme. Ganna Walska underwent a similar treatment of mental suggestion before she made her Paris debut in the "Rigoletto" last night at the Paris opera house, it was learned today.

Only Mme. Walska's intimate friends knew of the hypnotic treatment she had undergone before appearing upon the stage in the role of "Gilda."

The hypnotist, employing the methods of mesmerism auto-suggestion now recognized by science, inculcated in the singer's mind the impressive thought that she would be a tremendous success and could not fail.

The name of the hypnotist and the studio where the treatment was administered were not revealed.

Many friends and admirers of the beautiful Polish singer, who filled the boxes at the opera house watched anxiously to ascertain the success of the treatment, coupled with the natural talents of the singer. When Mme. Walska appeared upon the stage her actions and voice were absolutely normal, showing no outward trace of the mental power exerted over her.

The opera house was crowded with one of the most fashionable audiences of the season.

Mme. Walska, who, in private life, is the wife of Harold F. McCormick, Chicago, multi-millionaire was overjoyed at the public interest displayed in her Paris debut. She had encountered numerous obstacles, as Herr Schwartz, of the Berlin opera company, who was to sing in the title role, sent word at the last minute that illness would prevent him from taking part. The role was filled by tenor Smirnoff.

When Ganna made her first entry upon the stage her voice was almost inaudible to the audience. But she showed remarkable will power and sang until the last curtain, despite hoarseness in the gallery who whistled derisively and shouted "enough, enough."

Mme. Walska decided to take hypnotic treatment upon the advice of a friend, an American woman painter, who had consulted a prominent authority on the subject the purpose of strengthening her artistic talents.

Mme. Walska, whose highly excitable Slavic temperament is known to all her friends, decided a fortnight ago to take the treatment.

The hypnotist who treated Mme. Walska is author of a book, "The Power of Will"—which is widely read in Paris. His reputation is said to be second only to that of Dr. Coue. His technique is somewhat similar to Dr. Coue's, except that he completely hypnotizes his patients.

The psychologist's first treatment was an attempt at negative suggestion; that is, to persuade Ganna she would not suffer stage fright. But apparently he was unsuccessful against the dominant character and strong will of his pupil.

However, as the treatment continued, Professor Straram, Ganna's music teacher, said he observed improvement in the voice. Mme. Walska, who was already feeling the strain of her continuous rehearsals, broke into tears. She ordered Straram from the room saying she was taking the hypnotic treatment for her nerves, to ward off stage fright, and not for her voice. She insisted the treatments had not affected her voice in any way.

DECISION IN NUGENT MATTER

The following is the decision of Surrogate George F. Kaufman, surrogate of Ulster county, in the matter of the judicial settlement of the accounts of James J. Nugent, as administrator of the goods, chattels and credits which were of Patrick F. Nugent, deceased, late of the city of Kingston:

Patrick F. Nugent died on October 7, 1921, leaving him surviving two brothers, James J. Nugent and Richard Nugent, a sister Mary Clark, and three nieces, Maria Nugent, Bessie Nugent and Catherine Nugent, who were children of Philip Nugent, a deceased brother. The decedent owned no real estate. The personal property he had accumulated in his lifetime consisted of a savings account in the Seaman's Bank for Savings amounting to $2,926.04; a savings account in the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank in the sum of $880 and War Savings Stamps valued at $100. Letters of administration were granted to James J. Nugent upon the estate of the decedent on April 4, 1922. In the present proceeding for a judicial settlement of the estate a claim is made by James J. Nugent that he is the sole owner of all of the above mentioned personal property by virtue of a gift causa mortis by Patrick Nugent to him on or about September 16, 1921. The sister Mary Clark concedes the validity of this claim and renounces any share in the estate. Richard Nugent and the three nieces, however, oppose the claim and ask that the property of the decedent be distributed in accordance with the statutes of distribution.

The evidence offered by James J. Nugent in support of his claim of a gift causa mortis is clear, credible and convincing. Every essential of a valid gift causa mortis has been proved by reputable and disinterested witnesses and the transactions thus established seem to have been not only natural and in accordance with the decedent's wishes but to have been singularly free from any imputation of fraud or undue influence.

The decedent Patrick F. Nugent, who was about 57 years old, was a marine engineer employed on a pilot boat in and about New York harbor. His brother, James, who is about 50 years old, owned and operated a canal boat plying in and out of New York. The relations between the two brothers appear to have been for many years close and intimate. They were both bachelors, were greatly attached to one another and were together frequently. They kept their private papers, bank books and securities together in the same safe deposit box at the Produce Exchange Safe Deposit Vault in the city of New York.

Early in September, 1921, Patrick Nugent became ill and was taken to the Marine Hospital in New York city, where he remained continuously in bed until his death a month later. When Patrick was taken to the hospital his brother James was absent from the city on his boat. About the 8th or 9th of September, Simon Haraldsen, the chief engineer of the boat on which Patrick was employed as assistant engineer, called at the hospital and Patrick asked him to write to James that he wanted to see him. Haraldsen wrote to James and this seems to have been the first information that James received of Patrick's illness. The day after James's boat returned to New York, James, in company with a marine engineer named Grimes, who had been a life long friend of Patrick, went to the hospital to see Patrick.

According to Grimes's testimony there was some general conversation among Patrick, James and himself and then Patrick took his key to the safe deposit box wherein his bank books and savings stamps were stored from under his pillow and handed the key to James and said that in case anything happened to him he wanted James to have everything that was in the safe deposit box. James took the key and put it in his pocket and from that time on had it in his possession. Grimes and James left the hospital and the occasion of this visit was the last time that James ever saw his brother alive. The night preceding this visit to the hospital James's boat had gone out in a tow and James upon the conclusion of his visit to the hospital immediately left New York to overtake his boat on the Hudson River and went with it to Buffalo. Before he returned to New York Patrick had died.

Grimes's testimony is substantiated by that of Haraldsen who testified that he visited Patrick often during his illness and that Patrick said to him "I and Jim we have got everything together and whoever dies first, the man who is left behind should have the money." On two occasions Haraldsen took Patrick's pay to him at the hospital and Patrick directed that it be given to James, which was done. Patrick's sister Mary Clark also testified against her own interest that on several occasions when she visited Patrick in the hospital he told her that James was to have everything that he owned and she has carried out the wish her brother thus expressed by relinquishing any claim whatever to his property. The testimony of these witnesses impresses me as being thoroughly honest and reliable and by it every element of a gift causa mortis is established.

Gifts causa mortis as well as gifts inter vivos are based upon the fundamental right that every person has of disposing of his property as he wills. The law leaves the power of disposition complete, but to guard against fraud and imposition regulates the methods by which it is accomplished. The main requirements of a valid gift causa mortis as set forth in the reported cases are four: First, there must be an intention on the part of the donor to make a gift. Second, there must be some competent and perfect delivery of the property which is the subject of the gift as the nature of the property and the circumstances and surroundings of the parties will reasonably permit. Third, the gift must be made under apprehension of death from some present disease or some other impending peril. Fourth, the donor must not recover from the disease from which he apprehended death, or, in other words, the gift must not be defeated by the subsequent recovery of the donor. Ridden vs. Thrall, 125 N. Y. 522. Matter of Van Alstyne 207 N. Y. 298.

Tested by these requirements every element of a valid gift causa mortis is found to exist in the present case. The intention of Patrick Nugent to make a gift of his property to his brother James is clearly apparent from his declarations and actions both before, at the time and after the actual gift. By the delivery of the only key that he had to the safe deposit box to James, the decedent rendered the possession and nomination of the contents of the box including the property in question to James and a sufficient delivery thereof was accomplished. It is contended that this property was capable of actual physical delivery and that, therefore, a symbolical delivery was not sufficient.

In many cases symbolical deliveries have been upheld by the courts, and in the present case the delivery which was effected seems to have been as perfect as the circumstances and surroundings of the parties at the time would reasonably permit. In this connection it must be remembered that the donor was confined to his bed and was thus prevented from going to the safe deposit vault personally and securing the bankbooks and savings stamps and turning them over to his brother. On the other hand the donee at the time he visited the donor was acting under circumstances which limited the time he could spend with his brother and incidentally the time which he might otherwise have given to securing the actual physical delivery of the bankbooks and savings stamps. His deposit box to his brother and in boat was under charter for a trip to Buffalo and return and had left in a tow the night preceding his visit to his brother. He made this hurried visit to his brother and then left immediately to catch his boat which was then being towed up the Hudson river. Considering these circumstances I am satisfied that the delivery of the key accomplished a sufficient delivery of the contents of the safe deposit box.

The elements of an intention to give and of a delivery having thus been established it cannot be seriously contended that the other two requirements have not been met. The learned special guardian contends that the gift was not made in contemplation of death because the donor was not in extremis at the time it was made, but the Court of Appeals in the case of Ridden vs. Thrall (supra) has expressly held that it is not needful that a gift be made in extremis. It cannot be disputed that the donor was at the time confined to his bed in a hospital by an illness from which he subsequently died. He certainly had the possibility of death in mind at the time he turned over the key to the safe deposit box to his brother and in various conversations with Haraldsen he expressly mentioned the possibility of his death. He never recovered from the ailment from which he was suffering at the time the gift was made and, therefore, the fourth requisite of a valid gift causa mortis was fulfilled. I, therefore, hold that a valid gift of the two savings accounts and the war savings stamps above mentioned by Patrick F. Nugent to his brother James J. Nugent was accomplished. No other objections have been made to the account. A decree allowing the claim of James J. Nugent in full and otherwise approving and allowing the account as filed is directed to be entered accordingly. Settle decree before me on July 2, 1923, at ten o'clock, a. m.

The Cat in History.
Legends aside, there is evidence that the cat has attached herself to the dwellings of man for at least 4000 years. And she was highly esteemed until the darkness of the Middle Ages fell upon Europe, when poor puss was degraded to the office of companion to a witch and symbol of the foul fiend. Every learned monk knew that when Satan wanted to show himself he assumed the form of a black tomcat.

Stung Is Right.
An English nobleman who has an apiany sent to a dealer for a queen bee and next day received the telegram: "The queen will arrive by 3:40 train this afternoon." The operator, supposing it referred to the queen of England, could not keep such important news to herself, and so there was a big crowd at the station when the bee arrived. Stung—Boston Transcript.

COMMENCEMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL

One Hundred Sixty Receive Diplomas and School Prizes Are Awarded—Speakers Acquit Themselves Well.

The formal recognition of graduation was made to the Class of '23 Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium. One hundred six students received their diplomas at this time. The exercises were very impressive, full of such things as will help the graduates remember the significance of his commencement as an entrance upon the road of life.

The Rev. William J. Nelson opened the exercises with an invocation, following which Miss Helen G. Smith played in a most commendable manner the piano selection, "Consolation," by Elgar. Then followed the speakers.

The entire speaking program was on the one theme, arranged in the form of a debate, seeking to prove which of the aids of civilization has done most for mankind. The idea was first offered by Miss Noone and she all her other suggestions it worked out very well.

The eight speakers entered upon the stage and took their seats around the vice covered throne of the judge. Westbrook Stelle, the first speaker, acting as Mankind, spoke in a masterly tone of the successes of the human race, of its needs and how it has met them, its triumphs in many lines; these accomplishments have come through the efforts of the co-workers, and now he was to present a laurel crown to the one who had done most for him.

Iona Kinkade presented the touching, yet strong claim of Medicine, how it has helped the human race, bringing it from conditions of poor health, keeping it happy despite the smyth of the germ, how, in keeping the bodies of men healthy, it had helped in such a way that all the others were dependent upon it.

Architecture was presented by Isaac Reuben, who argued the importance of the inspirations offered by his buildings, the importance of the towns and cities, which after all belonged to architecture. His claim, too, seemed primary, and for him the crown was asked.

Then stepped up Education, represented by Marie Partlan, who objected that the claims of the others were unfair to her. Though they had all done much for mankind, it was through education that they were able to do it. To her belonged the credit for having put to advantage the lessons of the past, so that mankind was able to triumph in so many different lines.

Labor—the word rang like a gong in the night—what could any of the others have done without the spirit of labor? Solomon Rodney forcefully presented a strong argument in its favor. To all the others belonged honor for their visions and aspirations, but to labor belonged the credit for the actual work. Nothing was worth while without it. Architecture's visions, medicine's tenderness, education's lessons, and all the other aids, were useless unless put into practice through labor. The dreamer planned, the laborer accomplished.

Then Religion put forth a claim. Ida Kinkade speaking for it. Religion claimed no crown. She was not anxious for the material reward. She had given nothing material to mankind; nothing to be counted in. She always was and still is the most neglected of human aids, unappreciated, unwelcomed. Still she has always exerted a most important influence over mankind. She has given inspiration, inspiration to a life worth while, inspiration for a life beyond. And still she did not ask a crown, only to be brought along with mankind when he went to the world beyond.

Literature, represented by W. Parinacci Corregan, proved a most important factor also. In its works were lessons of every kind, inspirations, incentives to great accomplishments, ambition. Art and architecture, sculpture and music, are only material expression of the spirit of literature. Without literature to guide and its sub-branches would amount to little, medicine would be degenerated, labor remained a mere plodder, and education and religion would have perished.

Then all began arguing together, each refuting the other's arguments and renewing their own claims. At this point Cooperation stepped in and showed how foolish they were for arguing so. None were of much value alone. Little would be accomplished by any were it not for the influence of others. She, Cooperation, brought them together and was therefore responsible for the works accomplished. Mankind began dividing the crown. Six pieces were taken off, and one given to each of the aids of Mankind. But then they were not satisfied, they could not wear the crown alone, and divided it was of little worth. To Cooperation, the others said, belonged this crown. Taking the pieces and putting them together again, Mankind crowned Cooperation, the greatest aid to him, the spirit that moves to accomplishment.

Following this part of the program, was a piano solo by Miss Gerude Walsh. Miss Walsh displayed much skill in her interpretation of "Romance," by Sibelius, holding her audience in strict attention throughout.

Dr. Myron J. Michael then awarded the prizes to the students who excelled in the various departments, speaking fittingly of the significance of earning such an honor. The list of prize winners appears below.

Principal Charles W. Lewis spoke to the class of their splendid work during the past four years, of their willing spirit of cooperation, of their anxiety to get ahead and help the faculty make the most possible out of them. He appreciated their efforts, and congratulated them on their achievements. He therefore delivered them a victorious and worthy class to the Board of Education.

President Harry H. Flemming, of the Board of Education, responded to Mr. Lewis's address and accepted the class in behalf of the board. He also congratulated the class on their achievements and gave them an inspiration to greater work. He urged them to look ahead and with the spirit of cooperation continue in their work for the cause of mankind.

Then followed the awarding of diplomas by Mr. Flemming.

The exercises were appropriately closed with the benediction by the Rev. William J. Nelson.

School prizes for 1923 were awarded as follows:

The Hon. James A. Betts prize, $10 in gold for the highest average in the whole school for the year: Girls' prize to Anna Garool, junior; boys' prize to Charles Ellis, sophomore.

JAMES MURPHY TO PICK CANDIDATE

Aldermen Maccholdt, Belchert and Cashman Expected to File Application for Nomination on Democratic Ticket With Chairman of Democratic Committee.

"Leave it to Jim, he's a good picker," was the suggestion made Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Democratic city committee held at the city hall at the call of Chairman James Murphy.

Chairman Murphy, however, was rather modest and said he would name a committee shortly who would adopt any suggestion he might make.

In the meantime any one seeking the nomination on the Democratic ticket this fall should apply personally to Mr. Murphy. The first application received will receive first consideration.

It is understood that Alderman Maccholdt, who has been nursing his boom for mayor for the past few months, has already filed his application for the Democratic nomination with Jim. Since Alderman J. Philip Belchert was elected head of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, he has also been nursing mayoralty aspirations and may file the second application.

In the meantime Alderman Cashman of the Third ward is said to cast an aspiring eye in the same direction and will secure a petition from the union men of the city.

At the meeting Tuesday evening, Chairman Murphy, who is rapidly becoming a political orator of note since assuming the chairmanship of the party, made a stirring speech, and called attention to the fact that he had called the meeting to select candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large.

For alderman-at-large the only name mentioned so far is that of Attorney Thomas F. Coughlin.

In selecting the slate this fall Chairman Murphy may seek the advice of former Mayor Roscoe Irwin and Postmaster William C. DeWitt, although that is not absolutely necessary.

Among others who spoke at the meeting Tuesday were Joseph M. Sheppard who was city treasurer under the Irwin administration; William G. Merritt, who ran for assemblyman last fall; Lucullus Dunne, and one or two others.

Before the meeting adjourned Chairman Murphy assured the other members present that he would have his committee and his candidates ready for inspection at a meeting to be called in the near future.

TELEPHONE SERVICE IN SPRINGFIELD CRIPPLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Springfield, Mass., June 27.—Attorney Joseph B. Healy, former district attorney, has been retained by the New England Telephone Company and reports were in circulation today that the company plans to apply for injunctions restraining the striking operators from picketing and other activities.

There were several minor clashes between strikers and loyal operators today. Ex-estate guardians, now members of an auxiliary police force, were on duty today. Their presence has aroused considerable bitterness because, it is alleged, the reserve men are supported and their uniforms purchased by private subscription.

Little improvement in telephone service was noticeable here today and only emergency calls were handled.

Oil From "Turfa"

The "turfa" of Brazil is described as a soft, brownish-yellow substance that floats on water. From it can be distilled crude oil and scrubber naphtha. The oil is pronounced a very good shale oil. When distilled the turfa shrinks to a third of its original volume, and seems to offer a coke of good fuel value.

ELECTION MAKES CANADIAN EFFORT TO STOP BOOZE SMUGGLING LESS LIKELY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ottawa, Ont., June 27.—Canadian political leaders expressed belief today that the result of the Ontario provincial election would have an adverse effect upon possible cooperation of Canada and United States to prevent whiskey shipments from Canada to dry American territory.

While the dominion government has offered to enter into negotiations with Washington upon the subject, there is little likelihood that the Canadian laws will be amended to cover liquor exports into United States.

A majority of the Canadian senate and the opposition faction in the chamber of deputies are opposed to any move by the government towards decisive cooperation with Washington to stop the flow of liquor over the border.

When the subject was first broached it appeared that an international plan might be affected to cover liquor exports from Canada but the Ontario election and the announcement that Ontario will vote within a year upon a government liquor control bill (similar to Quebec's) changed the situation.

Impartial political observers said they believed there was little opportunity for American prohibitionists to secure cooperation from Canada.

BOY TESTIFIES AGAINST MOTHER

William Loneragan Says He Saw Something "Shiny" in Her Hand When Father Was Shot—Admits Police Coached Him.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 27.—A 11 year old boy who "loved them both," today testified against his mother, Mrs. Mary Loneragan, in connection with the murder of her husband, John.

The boy William, was in his father's shop when the latter was killed.

His mother had "something shiny" in her hand, he testified.

Then he heard a shot, saw his father fall and saw the "shiny" thing drop from his mother's hand, his story ran.

"You were your father's favored child," his mother's attorney asked.

"Yes."

"You were very fond of him, weren't you?"

"Yes, I was."

"You loved your father better than your mother, didn't you?"

"I loved them both."

Mrs. Loneragan wept while her son was testifying.

The boy said he had not seen his mother since the night of his father's death, and on cross-examination, said police had told him "you stood here and your mother stood there" in the shop and threatened to lock him up if he didn't so testify.

Mrs. Loneragan's six children were in the court room. She testified that her husband, a former prize fighter, had frequently beaten her and beat the children so frequently that "she guessed it was a habit."

The prosecution had charged that Mrs. Loneragan had suspected her husband of attentions to another woman.

The trial is in the Brooklyn supreme court.

There are also hundreds of other policies ranging all the way from $750,000 to $250,000.

BOSTON LABOR TO AID PHONE STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, June 27.—The Boston central labor union today pledged its support to the striking telephone operators led by Miss Julia O'Connor. This was the chief development today in the strike which began yesterday in five New England states. The telephone company reported improvement in several of the affected sections but service on the average throughout this state and Rhode Island was far below normal. Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire were not seriously affected.

What progress has been made, if any, toward a reconciliation between the two warring telephone unions, could not be learned. Each faction was noncommittal, except for a brief statement from a leader of the operators opposing the strike to the effect that union was ready to do anything short of striking to restore harmony within the ranks.

The statement issued by the executive committee of the central labor union declared that organization endorses the request for an advance in wages.

"The striking organization led by Miss Julia O'Connor, is the only one that is regularly and legitimately affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the only one we recognize," President E. A. Johnson of central labor union stated.

HAS MANY FINE QUALITIES

Arabian Horse Needs Little Food or Care and Can Travel Amazing Distances Without Tiring.

It is a popular notion that the Arabian horse is a peculiarly delicate animal, most sensitive to adverse influences. Such, however, is not the case. The wants of an Arab horse are few, and it is contended that he will maintain his health and spirits under conditions that no other species of horse could endure. Indeed, it has been pointed out, not only can the Arab stand under hardships at a pinch, but that he actually deteriorates if too carefully tended. This has been proved by the experiences of European purchasers, who have refused to believe that the usual three feeds of grain a day were too much, or that the morning hour of walking exercise was too little.

As a matter of fact, an Arab horse is naturally so high spirited and so difficult to tire that even a single feed of corn is excessive until he is being subjected to hard work. He will answer every requirement as a hunter if his food be restricted to hay, or even to grass. In the summer he thrives best when he has the run of a paddock and can regulate his own food and exercise.

These observations apply also to the ordinary Arab horse in everyday life. What a picked animal can do when put upon his mettle is almost beyond belief. A British officer in the Sudan found that after a ride of 800 miles his Arab horse showed no signs of overwork, although he had cast all his shoes before a quarter of the journey had been accomplished.

NORTH COUNTRY HER CHOICE

Chicago Woman Tells of Joys of Travel in the Klondike Region—Its Cats and Dogs.

Here's a jolly note in a private letter to the editor from a Chicago lady who spent last winter and spring in the Bahamas and South Carolina, and then—"I got home with the flu baked out but no energy, so as soon as I got my clothes mended I started off again and had a glorious trip up to Dawson and an auto trip into the Klondike region. And now I am sorry I did not get on an ore boat and go out to St. Michael and over to Nome, but there will be a next time for that country, I am sure. . . . By the way—here is a natural history fact for you. All the cats in Dawson have beautifully thick fur and nicely rounded tips to their ears because they get the thin points ends frozen off in winter. I know, because I saw most of the feline population, and a black kitten told me the reason for the special style in cats' ears in Dawson. But those bushes—for the first time I have seen a finer dog than a St. Bernard! Soulful eyes, and a peit and a size to make any ordinary Klondike burst into a million pieces with envy and just as friendly as the malamutes are not. If I do not quit, I'll be weeping all over this page. I am so anxious to get back to the Klondike country—seems as if 80 degrees below wouldn't freeze me out!"

Egyptian Idea of Beauty

The Egyptians made the most exhaustive researches into the care and preservation of the skin. Their success in arresting the decomposition of its tissues as evinced by the mummies of their pre-Christian era kings defies modern science. Just as the secret of mixing paints of the old Italian painters has never been duplicated by present-day artists and their mastery of color remains supreme, so the embalming processes of the old Egyptians died with them.

The ancient Egyptians painted their eyes with a long green line and believed very strongly in applying to the eyes mescalent, which was considered to have the soothing and healing properties of kohl, which is still used by eastern peoples—where, incidentally, ophthalmia is very prevalent.

Thoriaite Found Only in Ceylon

The mineral thoriaite, now largely used in the manufacture of the mantles for incandescent gas lamps, is at present not known to occur elsewhere than in the island of Ceylon. Its discovery was due to the operations of the Ceylon mineral survey. It is exported to Europe and the United States.

700 AT HEALTH OFFICERS MEETING

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 27.—A total registration of over 700 marked the first day of the twenty-second annual conference of health officers, and public health nurses now in session here. The second day's program began with an address by Dr. Elliott P. Joslin of the Harvard Medical School on the insulin treatment of diabetes. Dr. Joslin is one of the foremost American specialists on this disease and the Deaconess Hospital in Boston with which he is connected, is one of the institutions to which the Rockefeller Foundation has just given funds to make possible the more extensive use of insulin.

Hon. Frank H. Lattin, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Public Health and health officer of the town of Gaines for the past twenty years, discussed recent public health legislation and commended Governor Smith and the State Department of Health for non-partisan and efficient consideration and action on the health problems of New York state. Dr. Lattin called special attention to the bill enacted at the recent session, following the conference summoned by Governor Smith in February to consider the problems of rural health. This new law authorizes grants from the state treasury on the certificate of the state commissioner of health, equal in amount to appropriations made for new public health projects by any county not containing a first or second class city. It is believed that under this law and a companion measure authorizing state aid for county laboratories definite progress may be expected in the construction of more hospitals and in extending the benefits of modern medical service to the rural parts of the state, objectives toward which Dr. Diggs and the State Department of Health have been working.

Dr. William H. Park, director of the New York city health department laboratories, said at yesterday's session that the population of New York city is apparently becoming partially immunized to diphtheria and other diseases through the passage of the germs from person to person in the subways and other crowded places. At the same time the virulence of the germs is decreased by constant attenuation in this manner.

Referring to the forthcoming celebration of the fourth of July, Dr. Park warned the health officers present that tetanus is easy to prevent but difficult to cure, and the onset of the symptoms is an indication of the final stage of the disease. Accordingly, said Dr. Park, "any deep wound in which even a little dirt may have penetrated, such as injury from a blank cartridge, a nail wound or a compound fracture should be treated as a case of possible infection with tetanus. This means prompt surgical treatment to remove every particle of foreign matter and the immediate use of tetanus antitoxin."

Miss Gertrude Bucknam, of the

ciation, gave an account of the summer camp for children recently established in that county on the site of the proposed county tuberculosis sanitarium. The purposes of the "camp," said Miss Bucknam, "are (1) to provide special care for eight weeks during the summer for delicate children, who are 7 per cent or more underweight for height, between the ages of 6 and 15, found in the course of the work of the physical, nurses and social workers throughout the county; (2) to provide special care for children who have lived in tuberculosis homes; (3) to demonstrate the value of hygienic living."

AIR CONFERENCE AWAITS LEAGUE'S DELIBERATIONS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, June 27.—Home Secretary William C. Bridgeman, replying in the House of Commons this afternoon to inquiries said Premier Stanley Baldwin is awaiting the result of the League of Nations deliberations before taking any further steps toward an international conference for limitation of air armaments.

Cogmatic Man Frequently Wrong

Nothing can be more unphilosophical than to be positive or dogmatic on any subject; and even if excessive scepticism could be maintained it would not be more destructive to all just reasoning and inquiry. When men are the most sure and arrogant they are commonly the most mistaken.—Hume.

NAVY YARD WORKERS TO GET MORE WAGES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 27.—The pay of all navy yard workers will be increased on July 1 under recommendations made to Secretary of Navy Denby today by a special board headed by Rear Admiral J. K. Robinson. The increases are expected to average ten per cent.

The new wage scale was drawn up following a flood of protests against an earlier schedule. The increased rates will be promulgated after they have been formally approved by the secretary.

Homeric's Liquor Cut.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Southampton, England, June 27.—The White Star Liner Homeric sailed for New York today with only enough liquor to cover the passengers' needs until the three mile limit was reached off the American coast. No attempt was made to take liquor for the return voyage into American waters under British customs seals.

Richards Wins Again.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Wimbledon, England, June 27.—Vincent Richards, the twenty year old Yonkers, N. Y., tennis star, today won his second round match in the men's singles of the world's lawn tennis championship, defeating S. M. Jacobs, captain of the India Davis cup team, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 8-6.

St. John's S. S. Picnic.

On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock the Sunday school pupils and teachers and officers of St. John's Sunday school will go on their annual outing. All persons who have promised provisions for the outing are asked to have them at the Parish House by nine o'clock.

The Concentrated Angler.

A gentleman hesitates to bother anybody whose mind is concentrated on his fishing. The expert knows by experience one question leads to another, then on to begging, borrowing or begging. The expert knows that tyros are never provided with tackle, bait, or reasonable consideration for others. They expect the whole boatload of anglers to wait on them because they catch no fish.—Louis Rhead.

RACES TOMORROW AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Everything is in readiness for the annual Poughkeepsie rowing regatta Thursday. The Junior varsity race will start 3:15 p. m., the freshman race, 4 p. m., and the varsity race, 5 p. m. The above time is eastern standard time one hour slower than daylight saving time.

Julian Curtis of Yale has been selected by the Rowing Association as the referee.

Fading hope of Washington University to be a real contender in the race flared again today when physicians attending Don Walling, stroke of the westerners' crew, announced the "hushy" would be able to take his place at the head of the eight tomorrow.

At this stage Columbia seems to be the ruling favorite with the Navy and Washington running close seconds. Syracuse and Pennsylvania may show some unexpected strength while no one seems to know much about Cornell. The Cornell crew has been shifted around so much that it is impossible to tell just what strength it possesses.

Rules and regulations covering the patrol by the United States Coast Guard Service of the course for the regatta provide that all visiting yachts, excursion boats and other craft must anchor at assigned positions in the Hudson river, east of the regatta course and at least one hour before the start of the first race. These positions must be maintained until fifteen minutes after the last event. The stewards' boat, launches of competing crews and other official craft are the only exceptions to those affected by the regulations. Vessels of the merchant marine obliged to pass up or down the Hudson during the races will be required to proceed slowly and to the eastward of the course, at the direction of Coast Guard officers.

Poughkeepsie is already crowded with visitors. Never in the history of the regatta has the interest shown itself as in this year's event.

POLITICAL DEADLOCK CONTINUES IN BELGIUM

By Telegram to The Freeman. Brussels, June 27.—The political deadlock in Belgium continued unbroken today. The country has now been without a cabinet for a week. Inability of Belgium and France to conduct normal diplomatic exchanges concerning Ruhr policy and reparations developments is holding up the reply to the German reparations note.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Hall another home run king. Catcher Hargrave of the Reds knocked out a circuit smash on Tuesday and the Cubs went down.

Yesterday he waited until the 14th inning before knocking out his Philadelphia opponent. Cleveland and the Phillies got tired of making the stands a target for home runs. The Giants came from behind, staged a late rally and won, 6 to 3.

Tuning up for their coming series with the Yankees, the Athletics pounded four Washington pitchers for 20 hits and won handily 16 to 7. "My revenge," said Jack Quinn, left-fielder of the Athletics, "was to hit the Yankees and now Red Sox twirler, as he sent his former team mates to a 3 to 1 defeat.

The Indians strengthened their hold on third place when they downed the Browns 9 to 1. Williams' home run, his tenth of the season, was the Browns only run.
